NO PEACE WITH HYPOCRISY

WILSON TELLS HUNS FIGHT OR QUIT RIGHT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—There will be no peace so long as Germany persists in playing the war game as she is doing at the present time. Such is the gist of the reply to the German peace proposals made by President Wilson today, and in which he says he feels confident the allies of the United States agree.

While the president no where in his note uses the words "unconditional surrender," any one reading it can see that this is what he demands and it is what he intends to fight for to the bitter end. He deplores the fact that Germany has persisted in using such tactics in her war game.

The President declared that the United States is unanimously determined not to negotiate with Germany until the latter's power to do harm has vanished. To ask for an armistice at this time, the President declared, would be impossible and he felt certain that neither Great Britain, France or Italy would feel like doing so.

He points out that it is evident that the German people themselves have not been consulted in the peace proposals but that the offer of a cessation of hostilities comes from the group for the extinction of which, the allies were now fighting.

The note is declared to be a carefully worded masterpiece and ranks with the other notable messages sent to the German Imperial government by the United States.

Besides setting forth that there must be no conditions asked of the allies, the President asserts that at this time when both France and Belgium are smarting under the heel of the invader that to talk of peace was futile. A peace with hypocrisy is impossible, so Wilson declares.

INFLUENZA UNDER CONTROL BUT THE DANGER NOT PAST

While the influenza epidemic is far from finished Health Officer Dr. Charles R. Blake is confident that the worst is over and that by extreme caution it will soon be on the decline. Altogether over 700 cases have been reported, of which only a few were severe.

The rapidity with which the orders were obeyed for the closing the theatres, churches and all public places accounts for the curbing of the disease. Reports from about the bay are that it is rapidly disappearing and the ban will soon be removed.

It is expected that at the present rate the end of the week or possibly the beginning of next, will see the resumption of the social gatherings and meetings.

GERMAN NEWSPAPERS AGAINST SURRENDER

PARIS, Oct. 14.—"The nation wishes to avoid an unconditional surrender," declared the Cologne Volks Zeitung, in discussing Germany's reply to President Wilson.

"The note was as conciliatory as possible."

The Cologne Gazette says:

"No one should expect Germany to sacrifice her life interests."

EIGHT YOUNG MEN TO LEAVE IN DRAFT TODAY

Eight young men will board the train today for Spokane, Washington, where they will immediately enter the Modern Auto school, for instruction as to army service. This is the first crowd of drafted men to leave here in many weeks. The eight are Laurence Kenedy, Norris O. Anderson, William Vargas, Roy Bedbury, Clarence Alexander, Leo R. Black, Emmett McLaughlin and F. W. Butts.

THREE ARE NAMED TO INSPECT FOOD PRICES

R. H. Ivory, local food administrator has appointed as an advisory price interpreting committee B. McWhorter, G. F. Black, manager of Fischer's grocetería, and Mrs. R. W. Hanna, woman director.

This committee will have charge of Western Contra Costa county and will take the price list from San Francisco each week and try to get up a fair price list for this county from it. Inspectors will be appointed to look over the price lists in the various sotres and see that the prices are not excessive.

WALL CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF LOCAL BOARD

No meeting of the Richmond Industrial Commission in recent years showed as much optimism as did that of last week, when the annual election of officers was held. The same officers and board of governors was re-elected and they were highly complimented on the thoroughness with which they had performed their work. They are as follows:

President, George S. Wall; vice-president, Edward M. Downer; treasurer, B. Schapiro; secretary, Harry W. Wernse; board of governors, Harry Ells, H. A. Johnston, Claude Gignoux, H. C. Cutting, James S. Miller, James H. Forman, G. W. Smith, F. S. Morsman.

Reports were made to the effect that all information from expert sources sustained the belief that immediately following establishment of peace San Francisco bay would be the center of one of the biggest shipping and manufacturing developments the West had yet seen. Even now, it was reported, agents of Eastern capital are looking over this field so as to have full information on the best locations and sites. The Government free port project was also discussed, it being the opinion that a free port will be established on this bay.

FIVE SONS ENLIST FROM ONE FAMILY

FIVE ....6 ....6 ....6 ....6 ....6 ....6 ....

Five sons in the service and all of them native Contra Costans, is the proud record of Mr. and Mrs. Judson E. Swift, of Brentwood. The couple moved to this county 28 years ago and when they hung out their service flag they remarked to neighbors, they were proud they had five to go and only wish they had more.

The Swifts claim to have more sons in the service than any other Contra Costans and there is no one so far to dispute their claim.

O'BRIEN FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral services of the late William O'Brien, who passed away at his home last week, will be held from the Curry Undertaking parlors this morning at 10 o'clock.

Interment will be in Sunset View cemetery.

Wife Of Mayor Lane Victim Of Pneumonia

Just as she smiled at her husband and children and told them not to worry Mrs. W. L. Lane, wife of the mayor, sank back in her pillow and expired at the family home, 219 South Fifth street, at 3:15 o'clock last night.

The end had been expected since early morning when Dr. Hall Vestal commenced administering oxygen to continue the heart action. There were moments when she seemed to be rallying and as she was so serious to the end, her husband and friends had hope she would survive the crisis.

It was a week ago that she complained and took to her bed. Pneumonia quickly developed. She had been attending her sons Walter and Russell for several weeks and when illness over took her she had little strength to combat it.

For seventeen years she had been associated with the civic, social and club life of Richmond. She was a member of the Eastern Star, Brotherhood of American Yeoman, South Side Improvement Club, Ladies of the U. S. W. V. and several other organizations.

She was 45 years of age and a native of California. The husband and two sons survive her. The remains were taken in charge by E. B. Smallwood and removed to the parlors. Arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

LOAN SHOWING IS PLEASING TO CURRY

Leave it to Charles P. Crary, Congressman from this district, to do the right thing at the right time. Yesterday all of those who helped to put Richmond over the top in her Liberty Loan quota received letters of commendation.

Here is the letter: "For your work in the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign and the assistance of those associated with you I want to sincerely thank you. We are all pleased with the way Richmond has gone over the top in the Liberty Loan Campaign and it is due to the hard work of those interested in the campaign assisted by the prompt and patriotic action of all the citizens."

SUGAR RULING DOES NOT APPLY TO STATE

The ruling sent out from the U. S. food administration at Washington last Saturday, restricting sugar purchases by consumers to one pound at a time, does not apply to California, Federal Food Commissioner Merritt announced today.

Sugar sales may be made as heretofore, with an allotment of two pounds per person per month and the two pounds may be purchased at one time.

FIFTY-FIVE MEN OF SECOND DRAFT PASSED

Memory harkened back to the early days of the war yesterday when a crowd of young and middle aged men gathered at the corner of Seventh and Macdonald avenue for medical examinations. It was a more serious crowd than the one of a year ago.

Fifty-five men of the new draft were passed by the two Drs. Horner and Campbell. All of the men were Class 1A and all were anxious to get by the physicians and get off to camp as rapidly as possible. The sentiment was in favor of continuing the war until Kaiser Bill cries "enough" and quits without putting in a lot of qualifications as to what he wants.

The men who got by the doctors yesterday are the following:

William Johnson, William Henry Irwin, Dallas Woodraffe, Charles S. Holmes, Alfred Purdy, John Labaka, Geo. F. Lumsden, Dominoco Obarto, William F. Merchant, Jesse Buford, Edward J. Fairbanks, Bereoya C. Bradley, William R. Davis, Joe Toffoli, William Franklin Carrol, Emmett McLaughlin, William Dersey Galley, Henry B. Cagle, Artie Wm. Vanskite, Wm. LOAN SPECIAL TO BE HERE ON COMING SATURDAY

Although Richmond has more than made good on her Liberty Loan quota she is not to be overlooked when the big Liberty Loan special with its hundreds of guests from the European battlefields comes this way.

Announcement was made yesterday that the big special will arrive in this city next Saturday at 12:30 p. m. and will remain at the local depot until every one gets a chance to view the relics of the great war.

War speakers, who have fought in various stages of the war, some of them crippled and others who have yet to go will be on hand to deliver short talks. The Mare Island Naval Band and the Naval Quartette will help along with a number of selections.

The California train started from Oakland mole on the morning of September 23rd and has made two hour stops in all of the railroad towns of California, Nevada and Arizona. It is estimated that it has visited 150 towns and has done more to stimulate subscriptions to the Liberty Loan than any other medium.

PEACE OVERTURES

The whole world is agog right now over the peace overtures being made by the Imperial Government of Germany, and there is a wide diversity of opinion, the consensus of which, however, being that the Hun warlords and those backing them in Germany and elsewhere have not yet received the punishment justly due them, and that until such time as this punishment is meted out no peace or rest of any kind should be granted them.

Personally this writer feels that the general consensus of opinion is right, and that no cessation of active hostilities should take place until a part at least of the dire punishment and suffering they have inflicted upon millions of others should be likewise inflicted upon them. They surely have no sympathy coming from anybody.

On the other hand, it is a deep and grave problem, and we may be wrong in our feelings and judgment. It should be given serious thought, and this our President and the leaders of the Allied Governments are doubtless giving to it at this moment.

A continuation of the war means more punishment for Germany, to be sure, and God knows they deserve it, but it also means untold suffering for millions of innocent people. It means the killing of many thousands of our own brave boys and those of our allies. It means the starving to death this coming winter of millions of people, men, women and children in neutral as well as beligerent countries, such as Russia, Roumania, Poland, Serbia, Bohemia, Norway and others. The death rate from illness and starvation in Russia among children now is given as fifty percent, and in Poland and other inflicted countries about the same. Old men and women are dying off like flies for want of food, shelter and proper nourishment.

But even at that, it is hard to be willing to grant any letup of retribution to the miserable Huns which have set the world on fire, until their own country has been invaded, their territory devastated sufficiently to make them realize what they have done to others, and a beating given them from which they will shrink for the rest of their lives.

Restoration of stolen territory is no reparation. Payment of a money indemnity is no reparation. The problem goes deeper than all that. There is only one way to realize the condition, and that is for each individual to take it home to himself. Suppose, Mr. Average Man, that an enemy of yours enters your home today and ravishes your wife, then butchers her in cold blood, then kills and mutillates your children, and burns down the home. Suppose, then, that you get a gun, find the murderous wretch and are just about to send a bullet into his cowardly carcass, and he offers to quit your premises and pay you $500 or some similar sum if you will not shoot—what would you do?

Of course we each know what we would do in such a case—any man with a drop of real red American manhood blood in him would shoot, and keep on shooting until the target was blown off the face of the earth.

Well, there you are. Nations are nothing more or less than the individual in the aggregate.

If our soldier boys deliberated as long over doing their duty as some of our people at home hesitate in doing theirs, the victory would be doubtful. It is financial cowardice to hesitate to put your money in United States government securities, and to deliberate over the wisdom and patriotism of the investment is to hesitate in supporting our soldiers.

If the German empress has fallen ill over anxiety for that spindle-shanked crown prince, we desire to inform her that all of her fears are groundless. He hasn't been within twenty miles of danger.

PEOPLE SAY NO PEACE

Thousands of interviews with prominent people all over the country, and the editorials of the leading newspapers, are nearly all of one opinion—no peace until the Hun has laid down his arms, got out of all invaded territory, and then surrenders unconditionally. The following from the Byron Times is a fair sample of what is being written and said far and wide:

The German beast is squealing and crying for peace. And while his hypocritical overtures art being flaunted in the face of an outraged world, his hellish hounds are burning cities and towns, destroying humble cottages of the poor peasants, rendering useless the coal mines of France, and pillaging and wiping out everything they can lay their foul hands on.

In Berlin, the crowds are marching the streets, crying, "Peace has come—peace at last."

America is not going to be fooled by any peace made in Germany. Nothing but unconditional surrender will be recognized.

The guns of the Allies will shortly be thundering across the Rhine. The day of reckoning is fast approaching. The doom of a just fate is about to overtake the nation that has despised every precept of Civilization.

We have received from the United States tariff commission, a body about as useful in a time like this as a pair of shoes to a man who has lost both legs, a treatise on the button industry. What married men want to know about buttons is, when will the safety pins and horse shoe nails come down?

The wool administrator announces that no more wool will go into clothing for civilians, as the army and navy will require it all. All right, and we hope the politicians will not have any to pull over the people's eyes.

Prince Rupprecht is said to have been in Munich on a vacation. And we observe that the prince's armies in Flanders and Picardy are doing a little vacating of terrain also.

While the allies are building ships faster than the submarines can destroy them, at the same time the allies are destroying submarines faster than the Huns can build them.

No American, native or adopted, should be permitted to pile up a fortune while his countrymen are rifle carriers in the blood cockpits of Europe.

George Creel has delivered another address to the newspaper men. Something is all the time happening to irritate the newspapermen.

If a man just must have his hand on the steering gear and inhale gasoline, why would not a tractor plow meet his requirements?

There will be a million or more wrist "watches on the Rhine" before Christmas—American make.

For the present it is civilization's chief duty to save its hide. It can make more money later on.

Germany, which had an easy time starting the war, is having great difficulty in stopping it.

The short skirt was worn in Rome. No wonder Rome howled.

Both boats and men have to be bailed out when they get full.

The kaiser wanted world dominion; what he got is world abomination.

Germany, which always doted on militarism, is getting it now.

UNCLE SAM'S ADVICE ON FLU

Washington, D. C.—[Special.]—Although King Alfonso of Spain was one of the victims of the [illegible] epidemic in 1889 and many Spanish authorities [illegible] claim to influenza as it [illegible] in the present epidemic, the United States must soon we shall hear the disease [illegible] as influenza.

In response to a request for information concerning Spanish influenza, Surgeon General Rupert Blue of the U. S. Public Health service, has authorized the following official interview:

What is Spanish influenza? Is it something new? Does it come from Spain?

"The disease now occurring in this country and called 'Spanish Influenza' resembles a very contagious kind of 'cold' accompanied by fever, pains in the head, eyes, ears, back or other parts of the body and a feeling of severe weakness. In most of the cases the symptoms disappear after three or four days, the patient then rapidly recovering. Some of the patients, however, develop pneumonia, or inflammation of the ear, or meningitis, and many of these complicated cases die. Whether this so-called 'Spanish' influenza is identical with the epidemics of influenza of earlier years is not yet known.

"Epidemics of influenza have visited this country since 1647. It is interesting to know that this first epidemic was brought here from Valencia, Spain. Since that time there have been nineteen epidemics of the disease. In 1890 and 1890 an epidemic of influenza, starting somewhere in the Orient, spread first to Russia and thence over practically the entire civilized world. Three years later there was another flare-up of the disease. Both times the epidemic spread widely over the United States.

"Although the present epidemic is called 'Spanish influenza,' there is no reason to believe that it originated in Spain. Some writers who have studied the question believe that the epidemic came from the Orient and they call attention to the fact that the Germans mention the disease as occurring along the eastern front in the summer and fall of 1917."

How can "Spanish influenza" be recognized?

"There is as yet no certain way in which a single case of 'Spanish influenza' can be recognized. On the other hand, recognition is easy where there is a group of cases. In contrast to the outbreaks of ordinary coughs and colds, which usually occur in the cold months, epidemics of influenza may occur at any season of the year. Thus the present epidemic raged most intensely in Europe in May, June and July. Moreover, in the case of ordinary colds, the general symptoms (fever, pain, depression) are by no means as severe or as sudden in their onset as they are in influenza. Finally, ordinary colds do not spread through the community so rapidly or so extensively as does influenza.

"In most cases a person taken sick with influenza feels sick rather suddenly. He feels weak, has pains in the eyes, ears, head or back, and may be sore all over. Many patients feel dizzy, some vomit. Most of the patients complain of feeling chilly, and with this comes a fever in which the temperature rises to 100 to 104. In most cases the pulse remains relatively slow.

"In appearance one is struck by the fact that the patient looks sick. His eyes and the inner side of his eyelids may be slightly 'bloodshot,' or 'congested,' as the doctors say. There may be running from the nose, or there may be some cough. These signs of a cold may not be marked; nevertheless the patient looks and feels very sick.

"In addition to the appearance and the symptoms mentioned, a drop of the patient's blood may aid the physician in recognizing 'Spanish influenza,' for it has been found that [illegible] the number of white corpuscles [illegible] the disease. The examination of the blood, however, shows little or no [illegible] that the laboratory investigations [illegible] Research Council and the United [illegible] a more certain way in which individual cases of this disease [illegible] be recognized."

What is the course of the disease? Do people die of it?

"Ordinarily, the fever lasts from three to four days and the patient recovers. But while the proportion of deaths in the present epidemic has generally been low, in some places the outbreak has been severe and deaths have been numerous. When death occurs it is usually the result of a complication."

What causes the disease and how is it spread?

"Bacteriologists who have studied influenza epidemics in the past have found in many of the cases a very small rod-shaped germ called, after its discoverer, Pfeiffer's bacillus. In other cases of apparently the same kind of disease there were found pneumococci, the germs of lobar pneumonia. Still others have been caused by streptococci, and by others germs with long names.

"No matter what particular kind of germ causes the epidemic, it is now believed that influenza is always spread from person to person, the germs being carried with the air along with the very small droplets of mucus expelled by coughing or sneezing, forceful talking, and the like by one who already has the germs in the throat. They may also be carried about in the air in the form of dust coming from dried sputum, handkerchiefs and clothing, or from careless people who spit on the floor and on the sidewalk. As in most other catching diseases, a person who has only a mild attack of the disease himself may give a very severe attack to another.

What should be done by those who attend the sick?

"It is very important that every person who becomes sick with influenza should go home at once and go to bed. This will help keep away dangerous complications and will, at the same time, keep the patient from scattering the disease far and wide. It is highly desirable that no one be allowed to sleep in the same room with the patient. In fact, no one but the nurse should be allowed in the room.

"If there is cough and sputum or running of the eyes and nose, care should be taken that all such discharges are collected on bits of gauze or rag or paper napkins and burned. If the patient complains of fever and headache, he should be given water to drink, a cold compress to the forehead and a light sponge. Only such medicine should be given as is prescribed by the doctor. It is foolish to ask the druggist to prescribe and may be dangerous to take the so-called 'safe, sure and harmless' remedies advertised by patent medicine manufacturers.

"If the patient is so situated that he can be attended only by some one who must also look after others in the family, it is advisable that such attendant wear a wrapper, apron or gown over the ordinary house clothes while in the sick room and slip this off when leaving to look after the others.

"Nurses and attendants will do well to guard against breathing in dangerous disease germs by wearing a simple fold of gauze or mask while near the patient."

Will a person who has had influenza before catch the disease again?

"It is well known that an attack of measles or scarlet fever or smallpox usually protects a person against another attack of the same disease. This appears not to be true of 'Spanish influenza.' According to newspaper reports the King of Spain suffered an attack of influenza during the epidemic thirty years ago, and was again stricken during the recent outbreak in Spain."

How can one guard against influenza?

"In guarding against disease of all kinds, it is important that the body be kept strong and able to fight off disease germs. This can be done by having a proper proportion of work, play and rest, by keeping the body well clothed and by eating sufficient wholesome and properly selected food. In connection with diet, it is well to remember that milk is one of the best all-around foods obtainable for adults as well as children. So far as a disease like influenza is concerned, health authorities everywhere recognize the very close relation between its spread and overcrowded homes. While it is not always possible, especially in times like the present, to avoid such overcrowding, people should consider the health danger and make every effort to reduce the home overcrowding to a minimum. The value of fresh air throughout such sudden cannot be over emphasized.

"When crowding is unavoidable, as in street cars, care should be taken to keep the face so turned as not to inhale directly the air breathed out by another person.

"It is especially important to beware of the person who coughs or sneezes without covering the mouth and nose. It also follows that one should keep out of crowds and stuffy places as much as possible, keep homes, offices and workshops well aired, spend some time out of doors each day, walk to work if at all practicable—in short, make every possible effort to breathe as much pure air as possible.

"In all health matters follow the advice of your doctor and obey the regulations of your local and state health officers."

"Cover up each cough and sneeze,
If you don't you'll spread disease."

Bond Slacker Gets Coat Of Yellow Paint

When he refused to buy a bond and stated that he was not a native of this country and proceeded to curse it, Tony Falkgo, Italian employed by the Shaw-Hatcher shipbuilding plant in South San Francisco, was taken in charge by his fellow workmen and dumped into a barrel of yellow paint. After the dunkee he was taken into custody by the Department of Justice for solicitation remission.

CAMBRAI FIRES ARE NOW UNDER CONTROL

WITH THE CANADIAN FORCES IN THE FIELD, Oct. 14.—Engineers, aided by battalions of infantry and by the dropping of the high wind, have succeeded, after desperate efforts, in checking the Cambrai fires, but the heart of the city had been burned out and also the suburbs on the east side. Those on the west and south escaped by sheer good luck.

Careful investigation established beyond question that Cambrai had been destroyed deliberately. No sooner was the civilian population evacuated to Valenciennes than the homes were given over to sack by the soldiers.

Victory Is Certain Within Few Months

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—"Whatever be the result of the peace proposals, the war department must proceed at full speed with men and supplies, and the people must support the army until the boys are back with the fruits of victory, safe and assured."

Secretary of War Baker, home from a seven weeks' intensive study of the western battle line, brought the above tidings.

Battleship To Be Given Away

Everisti Gesti and Tony Cuneio, two standard Oil employees, have constructed a beautiful miniature ship which is now on display in the window of the Imperial restaurant. The ship is to be given away for the Red Cross.

It was planned to sell tickets at the dance last night, given by the Italian Band, which was postponed owing to the epidemic, but the ship will be disposed of in the same manner in the near future. It is a handsome piece of workmanship and is made so exact that its parts are moveable like a real ship. It is an ornament greatly to be prized.

LODGES, CLUBS THEATERS AND GATHERINGS

City Council Proceedings, Committee Meetings, Dance And Feeds

There were so many gatherings, meetings and all that sort of things last night that the News reporters were on the jump until the we sma' hours and then couldn't get half of them.

At the meeting of the city council the remuneration for doing the city printing in the News was doubled, which was joyous news, of course. We will now eat, and buy another Liberty bond.

Manager Dan Reardon had a big crowd at the Richmond theatre—the play was entitled, "The Chambermaid's Secret, or How to be Happy Though Married." All the married people in town were there.

At the tent show hundreds gathered, and a great commotion was raised when Chief of Police Walker pinched Jim Long, Ogborn, Picton and Hartnett for trying to crawl under the tent.

An indignation meeting was held at the new auditorium back of the Elks' building, to protest against Zeb Knott paving the county roads in his district with gold. It was the sense of the meeting that only Heaven should have streets paved with gold, and while this section of Contra Costa county was next thing to Heaven, the gold had better be used in buying Liberty Bonds.

At a big meeting of the San Pablo Presbyterians McCauseland, Pownell and Hurlburt were given one more week to come up to the mourners' bench or be fired out into the darkness of sin and iniquity. It is believed they will come through.

At a late hour a cablegram came announcing that the whole Hun army had been captured and the kaiser was being boiled in hot olive oil, made in California.

And then the head reporter awoke and found that it was all a pipe-dream. There wasn't a meeting of any kind on the townsite, and news was a scarce as hen's teeth.

Big Victories To Be Quickly Spread

San Francisco is now preparing for the big victories, which will be continually coming now until the end of the war. A gigantic electric siren capable of producing a noise that can be heard over the bay counties, it to be installed on the roof of the Ferry building in San Francisco by the Harbor Commission.

Resolutions have been adopted instructing Chief Electrician C. F. Stanton to install the "noise-maker." Commission McCallum stated that the siren would be used to proclaim all special events, and when the Germans have been completely whipped the joyful news will be "sirened" to tvery home in San Francisco, San Mateo, Alameda, Conntra Costa and Marine counties. It is to be ten times the noise produced by the famous exposition siren of 1916.
